EnRiMa at the European Sustainable Energy Week 2012: "ICT for Energy Efficiency in Buildings and Communities: from research to implementation"

EnRiMa, ICT4E2B Forum and IREEN projects will be the co-organisers of the event "ICT for Energy Efficiency in Buildings and Communities: from research to implementation" that will take place on the 20th June, from 2pm to 6 pm at the Stockholm Region EU Office in Brussels during the European Sustainable Energy Week.

EnRiMa, ICT4E2B Forum and IREEN, three projects funded by the European Commission under the Seventh Framework Programme (FP7) for Research and Technological Development, Information and Communication Technologies, organise a joined event to discuss together about ICT solutions in Energy Efficiency in Buildings. The participants are invited to discuss around 3 main topics: from the preparation of a roadmap for the use of ICT in buildings, to the adoption of it on a larger scale scenario, in districts and neighborhoods, by analyzing an ICT management solution proposed by one of the ongoing research projects.

The workshop's key objective is to develop a consensus on three themes involved with the development of the three projects organising the event. The participants, under the guidance of three session chairs, will assist to lectures on a set of specific topics related to the roadmap of energy efficiency, proposed ICT solutions and latest results achieved by the three projects.

The main event session will give the participants the possibility to choose one of the three groups to discuss around the topics of Energy Efficiency for Buildings and Neighborhoods:

- a. Decision-making support for integrated management of energy-efficient buildings
- b. ICT for Energy Efficiency: the construction companies' perspective
- c. Integration Technologies and Energy Efficient Neighbourhoods

At the end of the breakout sessions, each group's rapporteur will deliver a 20-minute presentation summarising findings from the discussions. The final scope of the event is to gather stakeholders' inputs for improving ICT4EE adoption in the market.
